

THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL MEDIA

Presbyterian General Assembly 2010

“I believe technology is an amazing testament to the creativity embedded in the imago dei, but instead of assuming technology is always a neutral tool, I believe it - like culture in general - profoundly influences us.” <http://donteatthefruit.com/>

http://business.twitter.com/twitter101/best_practices

You can “text” to Twitter from cell phone or iApps (See below).

Twitter Readers for Computers: TweetDeck; Twidget; TweetShare; Tweet Adder

Texting

Usually through a cell phone contract: 160 characters.

Some iTouch Apps for wireless texting, which means you are not dependent on having to have the expense of accessing the web from your cell phone to text. Cannot text to Twitter, however, with these Apps. Example: Textfree Lite, Text Me, or TextNow Lite from iTunes Apps store.

Facebook

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/create.php>

Create your own church’s or special group's Facebook Page.

For example: Parkway Youth (United Church of Christ in Minneapolis) on Facebook
